

1    Q.    Does the rationale of excluding new Industrial Customers from the collection
2           of any portion of the historical balance of the RSP extend to other costs
3           which no longer benefit the new Industrial Customer?

4

5

6    A.    Rates based on costs other than those contained in the RSP are typically set
7           during general rate applications, and standard cost causation principles
8           included in Hydro's approved Cost of Service methodology would apply.